GLENMORE FISH SAID TO BE ICE-SMOTHERED.

Tons of fish have been smothered in Glenmore Lake, near Newburgh, by the ice which covers the lake from shore to shore. The ice is more than two feet thick, and on top of this is a foot or more of snow. The community of Florida obtains its water supply from the lake, and the water becoming objectionable, investigation was begun by the state conservation commission. When a hole was cut through the ice, thousands of dead fish came to the surface and were carried over the dam.

Hundreds of live fish in search of air filled the holes which were cut. A mind is its own place, and in itself can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven.—Milton.

GREAT RUNNERS MEET TONIGHT

Ray and Ritola, World Record Holders, May Further Leases Time for Three Miles at K. of C. Games.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 28.—Jole W. Ray, of the Illinois A. C. Chicago, perhaps the greatest distance runner of all time, will try conclusions with a new record, a new distance and a new rival tonight at the annual games of the Knights of Columbus. Having matched Ray with Jimmy Connolly, Walter Higgins, Ray Baker and others in successive races, only to have the Chicago entry win in the proverbial "cake walk" over the middle distances, local promoters have produced Willie Ritola as the next victim to be. Just to be obliging, Jole has consented to raise the ante to three miles at which distance Ritola may be said to be more effective.

They will race over a specially constructed track at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory, banked at the turns and permitting the use of spikes. As a further aid toward record-breaking, a field of distance men selected judiciously, will be placed on handicaps calculated to carry the stars along to their best. The world's record for three miles, 14 minutes, 18.5 seconds, held by Hannes Kolehmainen, is almost certain to pass out if Ray is moving at his best. According to his own statement, he is in better condition now than on the night in Brooklyn some weeks ago when he broke five records in a single evening, including Alf Shrubbs' great mark for two miles. It will be the first scratch meeting between Ray and Ritola, who has moved up a bit beyond the first flight of American distance stars within recent months. Some time ago Ritola was given a handicap of ninety yards in a race at the mile and three-quarters distance and stepped home twenty-five yards in front of Jole, thereby causing a mild sensation. Ritola is a distance first and last, and was not thought to have the speed to stand off Ray even at this distance with a liberal handicap.

At tonight's distance, the local entry is granted sufficient chance to make the event something of a sporting proposition. Some weeks ago, he ran through four miles to a new world's record and on Saturday night cracked the then existing figures for five thousand meters. Three miles are just a little short for him and for that reason, Ray is favored to preserve his unbeaten record in scratch races during the current indoor campaign in the east. The usual number of clockers will be stationed at intermediate marks in order to catch Ray and Ritola in the record-breaking mood, if possible.

ST. PETER'S BEATS EAST KINGSTON

Tuesday night on St. Peter's court a basketball team representing St. Peter's defeated Manager McNally's fast going East Kingston team in a close contest by a 38-32 score. Manager McNally's ranks were greatly augmented by Burger and Murphy who had been obtained for the night from the Liberty Five management. For the victors Koenig was the star of the game putting in eight fields even though he was playing a guard position. Wenzel and Bruck also succeeded in making four fields each. For the losers Burger and Murphy were the high point getters scoring thirty points between them. It is understood that the Liberty Five has issued a challenge to the St. Peter's management for a game in the near future.

HALL PICKS TWO ALL-VALLEY TEAMS

Puts One Kingston Man On First Squad and Four On Second—Locals Had The Material But There Was a Jinx.

Many of the papers of this section have picked their All-Hudson basketball team, but few of them are better qualified than Chester R. Hall, of the local Y. M. C. A., who has witnessed a majority of the league games, and has seen some outside the league, in addition to acting as an official in several of the contests, so that his decision comes from a wide scope of observation.

Asked to select an ideal team the first two men whom Mr. Hall mentioned, in an interview with a Freeman reporter, were Swenson and Taylor for guards. These two men attracted his admiration by their ability to rove over the floor, to be just where they were needed when they were needed, and also by their fairly accurate basket shooting. The next man on his mind was naturally Masterson, the sure-eyed foul dropper of the Lilly City squad. For forwards, he picked the fast little member of the Poughkeepsie quintet, whom they call "Pastin". This chap was an almost sure shot, not needing to stop to take aim. But hasn't Kingston a man on the first team? Leave that part of it to Bob Corrigan, who came out third in the list of famous point-getters, and who was equally good from the floor and the complimentary line. The second team, according to the selector, should be what is left of the Kingston team, with Trenholm adopted to fill in in place of Bob Corrigan. When questioned about Bruno, he said that his tendency to foul counted against him, and when Gifford was brought up he stated that the Poughkeepsie's finding it necessary to slow up to take aim counted him out.

Swenson, who was the first man to be picked, would captain the first squad because of his level-headed playing and directing of the team he had in the league, and for the same reasons, Herb Anderson would wear the jersey numbered "1" on the second squad.

It might seem queer to some that the second team is almost totally composed of Kingston men. To back him up while the local authority might not know it, an officially recognized referee from another city stated to the captain and coach of the locals that the Maroon and White squad was the best team in the league yet. This might seem paradoxical to the story told by the league standing, but it must be remembered that the local team was a discouraged team when they took the floor. Burger, on whom the fellows banked much, dropped out just before the league started. In addition to this setback the first two games of the league were played with mostly substitutes in the lineup, and these only lost by four points at the most. Some one boasted of a team that had already been picked, said Mr. Hall, but it would be a job for any of the previously selected teams to play a better game than the following:

First Team.

Player	School	Position
Swenson, capt.	Poughkeepsie	Guard
Taylor	Newburgh	Guard
Masterson	Newburgh	Center
Pashin	Poughkeepsie	Forward
R. Corrigan	Kingston	Forward

Second Team.

Player	School	Position
Trenholm	Saugerties	Forward
Schmidt	Kingston	Forward
Vogt	Kingston	Center
Anderson, capt.	Kingston	Guard
McLane	Kingston	Guard

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE PETS

In a small town lived a small girl in a small house. Her name was Sally and Sally wasn't so very big herself.

She had many pets, a dog and a pony and canary birds, and some little puppies. Of course the pony didn't live in the small house but was in a small stable back of the house. There was plenty of room in the small house for the other pets.

"Bow-wow," said the dog.

"How nice it is to belong to Sally."

I take long walks every day and I scamper through the snow.

"I chase sticks and bark with joy. How fine it is to belong to Sally."

"When the summer comes and I'm hot Sally takes me swimming and I get all cooled off and sometimes I have some ice cream on a saucer. Oh, that is good! She gives me bones, and she gives me all sorts of good things to eat."

"I'm glad I belong to Sally, bow-wow."

"I wouldn't belong to anyone else in the world," said the canary bird, "that is, if I could help it!"

"Sally gives me seed and cuttlefish and delicious bits of lettuce. She gives me nice cool water to drink and keeps my cage so nice and clean. She gives me sand in the bottom of my cage for my feet."

"She lets me out of the cage when all the windows are down so I won't get out by mistake and lose my way."

"She laughs and talks so it makes me feel like singing."

"I'm so glad I belong to Sally."

"We have the best time," said the little puppies. "Life for us is very gay and merry and joyful and full of bones!"

"You wouldn't want to belong to anyone but Sally, would you?" asked the dog.

"Indeed, we wouldn't," said the puppies as they scampered and played and fell over each other.

And outside the pony was saying to a big horse:

"Oh, it's so nice to be Sally's pony. She is so good to me. She kisses me and pats me and tells me she loves me and I try my best to tell her how I love her. I think she understands."

"She seems to know that I love her just as I know that she loves me."

Sally was busy getting dressed to take her dog for a little run before supper and she was making up verses for herself.

This is what she was saying:

First, I wanted to be a clown, And for my jokes to win renown. Then a trapeze performer I wished to be, So that folks would come and gaze at me. Then I thought it would be grand, In the center ring to stand. And crack my whip and look so smart, And to do no work would be my part! Then I saw a circus train, Saw them unpack and pack again, And I just thought I would stay here, For I could never have left my pets so dear.

"Yes," Sally went on talking to herself, "I once did think it would be gorgeous to belong to a circus, but I know I couldn't go anywhere for any length of time, away from my pets, for my pets are the best in the world and I love them!"

And they were talking all this time of how they loved Sally.

"I think I'll say a little piece about pets," said Sally. And then she began:

OUR PETS.

The dog, the pony, the Dicky bird, too.

All do their best for me and for you. They love us so truly and are loyal, indeed.

They aren't like the piggie, just chock-full of greed.

They bark, neigh and sing to make us feel glad.

They don't like to ever see us look sad. So it is quite beyond me how one ever forgets

To be good to the dear, faithful friends—Our Pets!

By this time Sally was all dressed and as she went for the run with her dog some one passing her said:

"Your pets are lucky, Sally."

And Sally answered:

"And I am lucky, too!" Which made the dog wag his tail and have a fine piece of news to tell the other pets later.

WAYS WITH EGGS

Eggs, when plentiful, can be used as a main dish, taking the place of meat.

Savory Omelet.—Separate the yolks and whites of six eggs; beat the yolks with one-quarter of a cupful of cold water; add salt, pepper, chopped onion, chives or scallion tops; add the yolks to the stiffly-beaten whites and stir lightly until well-mixed. Pour into a hot omelet pan in which a tablespoonful of two of oil or butter has been heated; cook over a slow fire until the bottom is set; stir and lift the edges while cooking, so that the omelet will be evenly cooked. Set into a hot oven to cook the top; fold and serve, after spreading with a cupful of any preferred kind of creamed vegetable.

Valenciennes Eggs.—Put one cupful of strained tomato into a saucepan; when hot add four tablespoonfuls of cheese and one cupful of boiled rice; stir until well blended and hot, then add salt, pepper and one-quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg. Brush an earthenware dish with a little melted butter and make a border of rice, using one cupful, then a border of the tomato and cheese. Into the center drop four eggs. Season, sprinkle with minced parsley and cook for four or five minutes in a hot oven.

Eggs in Bread Cases.—Cut slices of bread two and one-half to three inches thick, then cut the slice into rounds. With a small cutter cut out the center, scooping out a hollow to hold an egg. Brush the cases with butter on the inside and out; break an egg in each; sprinkle with seasoning and set into a hot oven to brown the bread and cook the egg. Serve garnished with a sprig of parsley and curled bacon.

Rice and Baked Eggs.—Arrange a platter of boiled rice, making depressions with the back of a spoon for each egg to be served. The rice should be well seasoned. Break an egg into each cavity, sprinkle with seasonings and set into the oven to bake long enough to set the egg. The platter may be placed in a dripping pan containing hot water to keep it from glazing.

WANTS FREEMAN FOR HIS CHILDREN

"In Case I Am Called Tomorrow," This "Schoolboy of Ulster" Wants Children to Remember Homeland of Their Sires.

From his home in New England "A Schoolboy of Ulster, 1881-5" sends The Freeman this letter:

February 26, 1923.

The Editor, Kingston Freeman, Kingston, New York.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed find my check for $11.25 for the Weekly Freeman for five years.

We are here today and gone tomorrow and in case I am called tomorrow I want my children to sit at the feet of "Marse Henry" and hear him say: "I am a provincial. What life is to me if I gain the whole world and lose my province. A fairer land there is not. A nobler race of men and women lives not. It is all in all to me, and to be a part of it, to reflect some credit on it, to transmit its features to my children, that is the object of my striving and I know no higher ambitions."

And when they would turn from Marse Henry's book I would have them find the fire and spirit of the homeland of their sires through the medium of the columns of the Weekly Freeman.

Their lungs were full of ozone From the mountain and the glen They hated lies like rattlesnakes Those grand old mountain men

Their roads are full of footprints Their sky is full of stars To guide you on your journey No fog! this pathway bars.

The milestones on this highway Are strange and wondrous wrought On each a childhood lesson A pure and noble thought.

On this read: "Virtue Manhood" The next what may it be? A chaste and virtuous womanhood With deeds of charity.

LIVINGSTON COUNTY WINS TWO COW TEST HONORS

Livingston county carried off first and second honors in butterfat production among the cow testing associations of the state, according to the report for November which has just been tabulated at the state college of agriculture at Ithaca.

Sam Barber of Scottsburg, Livingston county, had the honor cows. His Aagie, a grade Holstein, produced 91.8 pounds of butterfat from 1,995 pounds of milk, and his Babe, also a grade Holstein, came next with 87.7 pounds of butterfat from 1,827.1 pounds of milk. In milk production, however, Babe had to take second place to a nameless Holstein Friesian owned by Dale Brothers of Gasport, Niagara county, who made 1,950 pounds of milk. In butterfat, however, she was way below Babe, as her figure was only 72.2 pounds.

Third place for butterfat went to L. C. K. P., a Holstein Friesian owned by J. M. Hoff of Hemlock, Livingston county, who produced 74.5 pounds from 1,146 pounds of milk.

The Dale Brothers' cow's 72.2 pounds of butterfat tied with Florence Nightingale, a grade Jersey, owned by C. E. Purcell of Hemlock, Florence, however, fell way below Dale Brothers' cow in milk production, as she produced only 1,032 pounds.

The rapid development of bovine tuberculosis eradication in this state during the last few years is an indication of the widespread interest of cattle owners. According to figures furnished by the Department of Farms and Markets, there are now 1,030 herds accredited by the state as free from tuberculosis, and 12,069 herds under supervision for the accredited herd certificate.

Members of the committee are H. E. Babcock, a Guernsey breeder and member of the legislative committee of the national livestock association, chairman; Jay Correll, state leader of county agents, secretary; L. A. Toan, president of the Guernsey Breeders' Club; E. R. Zimmer, secretary of the New York Holstein Association and M. E. Buckley, of Westchester county, who has been active in tuberculosis eradication for several years.

The committee was organized to study state and federal laws governing tuberculosis eradication, to study county tuberculosis eradication plans now in operation and proposed plans for the various counties in New York state; and to develop a plan for permanent procedure in eradicating tuberculosis. It is expected the committee will have the cooperation of state and federal officials, educational authorities, and owners of accredited herds.

BURIED CALF, NOT G. B. MAYES

Mayes Returns to Straighten Out Tangled Finances and Finds Wife Has New Husband—Mayes in Jail.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Knoxville, Tenn., Feb. 28.—From his cell in the county jail where he is held on a charge of forgery, Glenn B. Mayes, Knoxville's "Enoch Arden," today issued a statement explaining that it was the body of a calf which was buried eighteen months ago in an exclusive cemetery here, after the police and members of his family believed he had been burned to death in a mountain cabin.

Mayes said he removed the head and legs of a calf and placed the torso in the cabin, setting fire to the building and then fleeing until he could "get matters straightened." He returned home this week to find his wife married to another man. He surrendered to the authorities and was immediately placed in jail charged with forging the name of his brother-in-law to $5,000 worth of notes.

When the cabin near Mayes's mine was burned a year and a half ago, the body found in the ruins was identified by physicians as that of a human being. It was learned Mayes had aroused the enmity of mountain moonshiners and threats were said to have been made against his life. Twelve men were tried for his murder, but all were acquitted. The body found in the cabin was brought to Knoxville and buried with appropriate ceremonies.

Just one week ago, Mayes's "widow" was married to W. L. Gragg of this city.

Mrs. Gragg said today she was an "involuntary bigamist" and that she intended to get a divorce from Mayes, the latter declaring he would not "stand in her way."

FLINT QUIZZES STUDENTS TODAY

In Effort to Learn Origin of Anti-Jewish Propaganda—Jewish Students Urge Others to Attend Syracuse.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Members of Senior Council of Syracuse University, which is reported to have launched an anti-Semitic movement at a meeting Monday night, will go on the carpet before Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint today.

The entire Senior Council has been notified to appear before Dr. Flint at a session that promises to be historic in the annals of the university.

Until this probe is finished, Chancellor Flint refuses to make any extended comment. Promising a full statement when he has determined the exact status of the underground movement to curtail Jewish registration at Syracuse, Chancellor Flint today limited his remarks to this:

"In the first place, I have no definite proof as yet that the reports of the action of the Senior Council are true. But if the members of the council did discuss the matter, it is ridiculous from the point of view of the administration. I have nothing to say on the subject because it is unworthy of comment. No such discrimination would be tolerated at this university."

The council, or certain members back of the anti-Semitic movement are said to have been stirred into action by the attempt on the part of Jewish Syracuse students to attract others of their race to the local university. The Jewish students have been conducting a mail campaign throughout the country, their letters including the slogan: "Come to Syracuse University, the place where they treat the Jewish boy right."

There is still another angle that is receiving the attention of the university authorities in their efforts to ascertain the underlying reason for the Senior Council discussion. This involves the possibility that a certain member of the council, a college news writer, might have fostered the subject for "news" purposes. If Chancellor Flint determines that this was the case, he will, he has assured, promptly expel the guilty student or students from the university.

Louis Marshall, one of the foremost Jews in the world, serves Syracuse University as a trustee. He is president of the board of trustees of the New York State College of Forestry, located at Syracuse University.

Nobody Overworked.

Prof. William Palmer Wynne of England announces his discovery, arrived at through years of study and practice among the human species, that no person ever suffered from overwork. On the contrary, this student of the vagaries of the human mind and nervous system says, as we are told by the Los Angeles Times, that most people suffer from not having enough work to do. What a blow to all our preconceived ideas! Who has not at some time in his career indulged in a magnificent debauch of self-pity because of the heavy burdens placed on his bending shoulders and breaking back? And if this idea becomes widely prevalent how it will revolutionize our daily life. The chief excuse for surliness having been removed, people will have to revere some of their company smiles for home use, and life will be as rosy and gay as youth dreams it is.

anything, but as being willing to work hard for worth while things, such as Y. W. C. A., once it got started. Mr. Coe further believed that an up-to-date Y. W. C. A. was wanted here, but that it was a matter of salesmanship that the women have to put over. They must get their data in clear and concise shape, so that they know the exact cost of possible buildings, land, maintenance, etc. The speaker was of the opinion that it could be shown that a Y. W. C. A. on a reasonably big scale, was actually wanted and needed here, that is if the girls and women do actually want it, they should go about raising the necessary money right away and he felt sure that the Chamber of Commerce and business men would be ready to help do the right thing.

Mr. Safford, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. after calling to mind the immense amount of work that the women of Kingston had done, first to make possible the Y. M. C. A. and then to help in its maintenance, told of the number of women the Y. M. C. A. is now providing for by having one night a week when they use the swimming pool, the gymnasium and the bowling alley. On his way down to the meeting he said he noted that there was a large attendance of women, it being "Women's Night." There are anywhere between 150 and 300 at the Association Building every Tuesday night. Then, since so many of the grammar and high school girls have learned to swim, the directors of the Y. M. C. A. have tried to do what they could to give those girls swimming privileges. So the Y. M. C. A. knows perhaps better than others the need of a Y. W. C. A. in this city, and Mr. Safford believed that if the women added their faith and prayers to their endeavors they would accomplish the desired result.

Remarks from the floor were then called for, and a splendid group of young women from the Fessenden Shirt Company arose, their spokesman stating that the girls of the Fessenden Shirt Company were very much in favor of a Y. W. C. A. Next a young lady from the New York Telephone Company who had been to Camp Altamont and knew from experience of the Y. W. C. A. advantages said that the majority of the telephone girls wanted a Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Rice then called upon the Rev. Mr. Moser of the Trinity M. E. Church, and while he was of the opinion that he was too newly arrived in Kingston to know the definite situation, from what he had heard and read, Mr. Moser seemed to feel that no better social center for the girls of the city could be found than the Y. W. C. A. and closed with the pertinent remark relative to the social life of the organization that "All work and no play certainly makes Mary a dull girl," to which all of the Marys and Janes and Kathelines present agreed with hearty applause.

The Rev. Mr. Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church, told of calling with Mrs. Boeve that afternoon on a lady who was celebrating her 80th birthday. The conversation turned to the evening's meeting and its occasion, and the lady told of the hard work in inaugurating the Y. door was closed against the project, and the obstacles were insurmountable. Then the women took hold of the matter and not only worked hard but prayed hard, and today has a Y. M. C. A. to be proud of. Mr. Boeve then told of the General Electric Company in Newark where his charge was, most carefully investigating all forms of social activities for girls, and finally deciding so emphatically in favor of the Y. W. C. A. that they installed right in their factory plant a Y. W. C. A. for their 2,000 girls and secured a secretary for the same. Then Mr. Boeve voiced the sentiments of the audience, judging from their applause, when he became very practical and asked, "Can't the City afford a Y. W. C. A.? How can it, now support the Y. M. C. A.? Will it be possible to keep up a large institution, etc.?" Mr. Boeve said he was sorry not to see more of the city present who would express themselves as to the desirability of putting across such a proposition.

Mrs. Rice announced that Dr. Kaplan of Temple Emmanuel could not be present but had asked her to say for him that the movement in favor of a Y. W. C. A. had his heartiest approval; that he favored such an organization and would do what he could to further its interests.

Just one of the provisional committees had been very active at work and that was the membership committee. Mrs. de Hertogh, chairman. In making her announcements, Mrs. de Hertogh said that the securing of the pledges had been as a matter of information to learn whether or no Kingston was warranted in having a Y. W. C. A. It had been hoped that it was the general sentiment the committee there would be a thousand pledges though it seemed a big number to hope for. At the opening of the meeting, they had 1,165 pledges which during the meeting had been added to until the number reached 1,165. Unfortunately it had been impossible to fully analyze the pledges, but 392 pledges came from those in industrial plants; 248 from women in homes, housekeepers, etc.; 146 from "teen-age" school girls; 272 from professional and business women; 107 from women at large so to speak.

Later the Freeman reporter was told of one man who employs 100 girls who took 100 pledges and told the membership worker that his check for $100 was ready whenever needed as he wanted his plant to be 100% for the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. de Hertogh said that the work of the membership committee would of course continue and she had one bit of advice to give to the members of the committee. They would find criticism of and opposition to the plan, but there were just two ways in which to meet both: one could annihilate one's opponent, and quite cut off his head which would end the matter, but then he would be of no further use. The other way was to educate him, and that could be done only by becoming fully conversant with every phase of the proposition so that it could be put across in an absolutely convincing manner. That would mean hard work, but Mrs. de Hertogh warned those present that a Y. W. C. A. would mean hard work but that it would be well worth while, as the present number of pledges could prove.

Having heard so much from the local end of the problem, Mrs. Rice called upon Miss Capen to address the meeting.

To begin with Miss Capen said that the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. did not send out its representatives to promote the institution of Y. W. C. A. It sent them out only when asked for. She told of the magnitude of the national and international Y. W. C. A. in more than 20 countries besides the United States, composed of more than a million girls.

Miss Capen made it emphatic that the Y. W. C. A. was not the building it was the spirit of comradeship, friendship, loyalty to Christ, the developing of the girls, bringing them into the Kingdom of God. However its spirit must be interpreted, and this was done usually through buildings, though after all it is the membership that makes the association. The Y. W. C. A. includes all types of girls and women. It breaks down barriers between girls where groups of girls have been keeping away from other groups of girls. When, after all, they were all just girls. The Y. W. C. A. supplements the work of the schools, making it possible for the girls to have classes in many subjects, sewing, millinery, home-keeping, higher English, etc., etc. almost without end.

Not only are there facilities for physical development possible, but the Y. W. C. A. health program includes careful examinations of all girls and women who would enter any of the athletic classes. If defects were discovered, corrective work would be given.

Miss Capen made it very clear that dancing was not only allowed but was very popular. There were what were known as "Pop Dances," for the entire association membership; then there group dances made up of the girls in clubs and classes. The girls bring their suitors or men friends and introduce them and they are given cards of admission, which mean more than the price of admission of the men. These dances are provided with the right kind of music; and the right kind of chaperonage whether of the girls themselves or older women, etc. Often the girls decorate the rooms for their special dances, and always they have mighty fine times. It means the pleasure of dancing in a right place, with right music, with right partners under proper supervision.

Miss Capen said that she had left the spiritual side of the work to the last. Formerly it had been the plan to dole out religion to such girls as seemed to need that; to give an educational pill to other girls; a social pill to still others. Now the Y. W. C. A. has learned a better way. It counts all of its activities as having running through them a spiritual influence that makes games better sports and character builders; social activities a furthering of human sisterhood; educational features broadening in every sense; physical activities helping to make better bodies for the housing of better souls. In other words, the Y. W. C. A. stands for religion in every day life as part of it, not as something put on outside.

Any girls may join the Y. W. S. A. (that was made emphatic), no matter what if any their faith. Miss Capen told of the perfectly splendid work of a Miss Grace Harworth, a Catholic girl, president of the New England Field of Industrial Girls, who had put over a wonderful program for her girls. This young woman had gained a vast deal from the association and had given the association a vast deal of service.

One thing was sure, according to Miss Capen, and that is that the Y. W. C. A. is not started by any group of women reaching down to any other group, but by the women of all groups working together to create an association. While it is necessary to have women of trained minds on the boards of directors, and if possible, women of sufficient leisure to look after the association welfare, girls are also on the boards of directors, so that it is a case of "We, Us and Company," not "They and Us."

be housed in a building separate from the administration activities, including gymnasium, pool, etc., preferably in the residence part of a community. At all events both activities do not work out well in one building, that is sure.

Miss Capen was sure that in any city that had such a beautiful high school as has Kingston, there could be a splendid Young Women's Christian Association. She was delighted with the number of pledges, which almost trebled those secured recently in a city of 45,000 inhabitants, and which she said was the largest number for a city the size of Kingston that she knew of.

So completely did Miss Capen cover the subject that very few questions were asked of her, since she could not, of course, tell how much money would be needed until it is learned just what Kingston intends to do in the matter.

But the question was asked, whether or no any one present at the meeting had any objections to raise to a Y. W. C. A., or preferred a Community Center to a Y. W. C. A. The answer was a dead silence.

Miss Capen is remaining in town today to confer with the various provisional committees for it was felt that a tentative membership of over 1,000 persons was a sufficient guarantee that a Y. M. C. A. is wanted in Kingston.

Study Class At Holy Cross. The subject to be discussed is "Negro Development." The group will be led by Miss Webb of Red Hook. No direct questions will be asked. The discussion method will be used. Any one who is interested whether a member of the auxiliary or not is welcome to attend.

CROOKS OVERRUN N. Y. "DEADLINE"

By Telegraph to The Freeman. New York, Feb. 28.—The "armistice" which has been in effect for many years between New York's police force and jewelry thieves, is no more.

That the old "deadline" below which any known robber or pick-pocket was liable to arrest on sight, is no longer respected by the thieving gentry was learned today when a series of robberies in the wholesale jewelry district which the police have hitherto kept secret, was revealed.

The disclosure came when a reward of $10,000 for the return of $87,000 worth of stolen gems was offered by Isaac Levinson, a dealer in conjunction with the firm which insured his stock of precious stones. Levinson's pocket was picked while he was en route from his store to the Grand Central Station.

When the story of this loss became public, it was revealed that earlier in the month, another dealer was relieved of $50,000 in gems while boarding an elevated train, and that more than $150,000 in jewels has been stolen within the past six weeks through similar methods by crooks who are finding the Maiden Lane section a happy hunting ground.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 28, 1923.

No one has yet attempted to number the "tears of the oppressed" or to count the slaves that enabled old King "Tut" to live in astonishing splendor and to go to his gravehouse in unparalleled gorgeous state.

"Anderson Walls Wets Conspiracy Against Him." Supposing that they have, that is no excuse for his frantic efforts not to tell what he did with that $24,700. The Rockefeller are quite right in thinking that shady finance and pious reform do not yoke well in one harness.

That Hammond, Ind., man who was so displeased at the birth of a fifth son that he named him Enough may live to see the day when the unwelcome boy will prove to be the best of all his investments. Unwelcome children often have "a way with them" and get forward surprisingly.

It will be amusing hereafter to listen to what Governor Smith and other Democratic orators say against the corporations and vested interests after that report which was filed by Treasurer Wallis, of the Democratic State Committee. The Democratic orator who claims his party is the poor man's friend will have to admit that his party also has a speaking acquaintance with some men who are not distressingly poor.

John Barrymore's 101 nights of Hamlet, played to "beat the record," although said to be the good and original Hamlet to be expected from a gifted representative of a gifted family, is not as great an achievement as was Edwin Booth's 100 nights of Hamlet. Barrymore had a stationary population several times as great as Booth had to draw from and a far greater floating population than was found nightly in the New York of 1870.

Notwithstanding the length of the winter, spring is in the making and even now it is possible to get a breath from the southland. Within a week or two the first robin of the season will be reported and after that it will be only a matter of getting ready for the good old summer time. This year we may appreciate the warm weather more because we had to wait so long for it to come. Then it is certain that some will complain of the heat.

While no one wishes to attack the fuel administrator appointed by Governor Smith at $2,500 per month, the fact remains that the administrator named by Governor Miller, who gave his services, did his work with no trouble to speak of while he was at the head of the bureau. During the past few weeks there has been all sorts of confusion which comes as a surprise after the statement by Governor Smith that in the selection of Mr. Goethals the whole problem of fuel distribution was settled. Incidents have been reported which would hardly support the contention that everything is progressing smoothly.

GERMAN PSYCHOLOGY.

Apparently there has been no change in the operation of the German mind since the eye-opening war. Germany still appears to be distressed over the stupid inability of other peoples to see through German eyes—the only ones possessed of correct vision. The Berlin Vorwaerts characteristically expresses amazement at the indifference of "the outside world" to what has taken place and is going on in the Ruhr. Germany, it says, had high hope of American intervention. Even England seems to have been expected to join with America in rallying to Germany's standard and putting impudent France down. Yet the American soldiers recalled from the Rhine were not ordered to march against Paris and England has simply done nothing! The Vorwaerts seems quite bewildered, finding it impossible to understand how America "can now complacently look on as the young German republic is being made the victim of the greatest injustice."

The answer is so simple that even the Vorwaerts ought to be able to furnish it. The "young" German republic is old enough to know that it is expected to pay its debts and that it can not hope to make popular its efforts to sidestep its solemn, signed obligations. But America and England are disposed to think that there is nothing for Germany to do but face the facts, come to terms and make the best bargain possible. The French are willing to compromise and have just said so once more, provided the settlement is definite, final, and the Germans will stick to it. How to hold the Germans to an obligation which another nation would consider itself bound by, how to convince them of the binding nature of a "scrap of paper" to which they have put their signature, is the obvious difficulty.

Barron's Nature Club Notes

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?
 1. I notice the color of bird's eggs is often given differently in various bird books. Why?
 2. Do cactus plants have regular blossoms?
 3. Is there any animal that doesn't have blood or breathe?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. What is the scepter used by kings, meant for?
 Not exactly a nature question, but as the article comes down from primitive man, we will stretch a point. The earliest method of bringing down game was probably by hitting it with a stone or stick. The stick grew into a spear, with a point either made by charring or by attaching a flint. The stick also was made into a club with carving to ornament it. Naturally the handsomest clubs would be the property of the chiefs, and in time became a sign of leadership. The scepter is a descendant of the club.

2. How many litters a year have foxes?

Only one. Mating may begin in February, or not till into March. Pups are born in April or May, and average 5; but young parents, mating for the first time, when slightly under a year, may have smaller litter.

3. What harm do barnacles do to a ship? What do they eat?

Barnacles are crustaceans having a hard exterior to their soft bodies. They live on minute forms of marine life which they wave into their mouths by aid of cilia, or bristles on their members. They are born swimming free, but early in life attach themselves to some object and grow fast. The trouble on ships is that the goose barnacle, Lepas anatifera, has a leathery stalk; and when quantities of these creatures hang down like fringes from the ship's bottom, they cause friction against the water and reduce the ship's gliding power.

AGRICULTURE.

"Trust in the Lord and do good: so shall thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed."—Psalms 37:3.

The farmer who wants to beautify his farmstead needs only to go into the woods and fence-rows for shrubs, which will equal any the nurseryman can furnish.

Uncle Ab says: The fellow who makes it a point to do one job each day that he'd rather not do, doesn't need any formula for getting better and better.

Winter is a good time to "read up" on the science of farming, and correspondence courses from the state college offer the help of specialists with your reading.

New York stood at the head of the list in 1922 in the production of certified seed potatoes. Of the 2,255,360 bushels raised the country over, New York produced 352,000—nearly 16 per cent.

"Prices of Farm Products in New York" is a new Cornell bulletin every farmer will want. P 416 with your name and address on a postal card addressed to the state college at Ithaca will bring a copy.

This country will not practice forestry until woodland owners get the idea that timber is a crop, to be planted, cared for, and harvested like any other crop, except for its longer growing period.

POUGHKEEPSIE DEBATORS

HERE ON MARCH 24.

Kingston High School will debate Poughkeepsie High School in the local auditorium on March 24.

The winner of the Kingston Poughkeepsie debate will meet the winner of the Beacon-Newburgh debate in the finals for the Rutgers trophy. The question to be argued is: "Resolved, that in view of the present economic distress in Europe, the United States should cancel at least fifty per cent of the war debts of the allies."

To Every Soul.

To every man there openeth
 A way, and ways, and a way
 And the high soul climbs the highway.

 But to every man there openeth
 A high and a low.
 And every man decideth
 The way his soul shall go.

To the Rescue.

Bill Smith, country storekeeper, motored to Kingston to buy goods. They were sent immediately and reached home before he did. When the boxes were dropped off the truck in front of the store, Mrs. Smith, who had taken charge, uttered a scream, seized a hatchet, and started to open the largest one.

"What's the matter, mother?" said one of the children, who watched her in amazement.
 Pale and faint, Mrs. Smith pointed to an inscription on the box. It read, "Bill inside."

The Loafer.

We know a gent, tho' young in years,
 Who is the cause of floods of tears;
 He doesn't care a single whoop
 For parents' cares, and wouldn't stoop
 To lift a burden off of those
 Who furnish him with food and clothes.
 Should he be asked to do some work,
 He would not hesitate to shirk.
 His mother dear hears no kind word,
 No matter how for him she's stirred,
 The lazy scamp, so we are told,
 Is only now just three weeks old.

PROF. TONKS TO LECTURE

HERE AGAIN IN SPRING

Prof. Tonks, head of the art department of Vassar College, who so acceptably lectured in Kingston last year, will deliver a series of three lectures again this spring. While the lectures which were given by Prof. Tonks last year at the home of Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck were so thoroughly enjoyed, there was just one drawback: there was no opportunity to illustrate them. This year the lectures will be given at St. John's Parish House on the afternoons of the three Saturdays, March 10th, 17th and 24th. There the lectures will be illustrated with many rare lantern slides belonging to Prof. Tonks. Tickets for the series of lectures may be secured from any of the Kingston Vassar Group, or at the parish house at the time of the first lecture.

Musterole is easy to apply and it gets in its good work right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. Just apply Musterole with the fingers. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean white ointment made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of all sorts. Seldom fails to deliver results. 35c and 65c jars and tubes; hospital size, $3.00.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 28.—Citizens of Broadway, that world of tinsel and make-believe, whose sun is a spotlight and where artificial dramas are played out against a painted backdrop, are slowly recovering today from the shock of a real life de-nouement which puts to shame the shadowy mummery of the stage.In the Green room at the Lambs, standing in the wings or waiting the voice of the call boy in theater dressing rooms, actors discuss in hushed tones an event which has shaken habitués of "the greatest street in the world," out of their accustomed pose of blasé sophistication.Fred Stone, peerless comedian and "prince of good fellows," has turned to Christ!It is a significant fact that when the story of how Stone, after much thinking while snowbound with his company in the Dakotas, went to the Rev. Cecil Leslie Clifford of the Mountain View Methodist Episcopal Church at Butte, Mont., and declared he was ready to embrace the full duties of Christianity and give one-tenth of his income to the church, filtered through to Broadway, no one smiled.Even the most frivolous of those who call the theater "home," saw in the news no occasion for flippancy or laughter.Their comments were serious and approving.Will Rogers, one of Stone's intimates and himself a well known comedian, when told of his friend's decision said: "If any actor on Broadway might be expected to do that, Fred Stone would be the one.
He has never been a devoutly religious man, but he has always been a serious thinker. Behind the boyish exterior there is the thoughtful man."Fred Stone is regarded as one of the wealthiest men in his profession and his income is estimated at more than $125,000 annually.

an Iceberg."Well, well, well, look who's here," shouted Captain Ralph Roodboy as he alighted from a train in Madrid, Spain, onto the toes of Prof.
Spudluck, the famous inventor.
Roodboy was closely followed by the Biven boys, Zink and Blink, Raiser Turk and Fatty Clink, the other members of the round-the-world Gallupers. They had quit Egypt in a hurry after Zink and Fatty's adventure with a harem that had been wished on them by a man, whose life they had saved.Prof. Spudluck was at first inclined to be highly indignant until he recognized Roodboy, and the flush of anger that spread over his face was quickly succeeded by a welcoming smile as he clasped the hand of the famous Galluper.Very shortly afterward in Prof.
Spudluck's room in the hotel the adventures of the Gallupers in Africa were quickly outlined, and also the hope that they would for home to catch a ship sailing for home.
Prof. Spudluck listened attentively to the story of the wanderings and said, "Well boys you have struck luck if you are game for a trip in the air over the ocean."No Galluper had ever been known to flinch from any known or unknown danger and the professor soon outlined his plan. He was the inventor of an airship and proposed testing it out in an ocean flight, and there was room on board for the entire party.Arrangements were quickly made.
The airship was found moored on a level plain a few miles outside the city. It was built along similar lines to those in use during the world war, although the professor claimed that his ship contained all the latest improvements."Hurrah for home," shouted Zink Biven, as the ship began to rise sky-ward and pointed her nose toward the general direction of home."How long will it take to make the trip?" asked Roodboy of the professor."Not over two days at the most with luck," replied the professor as he manipulated engine and steering gear.The first day passed swiftly and uneventfully, and it looked as though the professor's predictions would be realized.During the morning of the second day the professor looked somewhat worried over the appearance of a heavy dark cloud ahead of the ship.There was cause for worry for in less time than it takes to tell the airship was enveloped by a terrific hurricane. The ship quivered from stem to stern, and every minute the Gallupers thought they would be plunged into the waters below. The Squid, however, was a gallant ship, and rose valiantly to the occasion.All would have gone well if a flock of wild sea gulls had not become entangled in the steering gear causing the ship to plunge suddenly downward."Jimmy crickets," shouted Raiser Turk peering over the side of the ship, "we are going to hit an island. As he spoke the sharp prow of the airship plunged into the island, but it proved to be a huge whale.The huge creature, startled, shot off at headlong speed straight ahead while the Gallupers and Prof. Spudluck hung grimly to the sides of the ship wondering what would happen next.Fortunately the whale was too scared to think of diving, dragging the impaled ship with it under water, which was fortunate for the boys and the professor. Suddenly ahead loomed a huge iceberg.Were the party to be doomed to an icy death?"There is but a single chance," shouted Roodboy grimly as he worked his way back to the rear of the ship and leaning over extricated the carcasses of the sea gulls from the steering gear. Then crawling hastily back to the engine room he stepped on the gas and threw the engine in reverse.The ship quivered and then suddenly released her prow from the whale's body and shot up in the air just as the whale plunged into the iceberg."Saved!" shouted the Gallupers as the gallant ship rose high enough in the air to clear the iceberg, and again the prow of the Squid was pointed homeward and the journey
resumed.TRADE COMMISSION

trade commission were resumed today when the commission directed under the Clayton act to require stock to dispose of such stock in such manner as to make it impossible to bring about a monopoly.

Mrs. Mabel Willibrandt

When Mrs. Gabriel Willibrandt was named Assistant Attorney General of the United States, from California, there was keen resentment in the male personnel of the office for she was the first woman so named. This resentment vanished when she showed her tremendous ability. It was she upon whom Attorney General Daugherty called to write the famous opinion which ruled liquor off every ship entering an American port. Now, during the protracted illness of the Attorney General she is practically running the department, and is virtually the Acting Attorney General of the United States.

Ex-Senator Drackett W.H. Anderson.

William H. Anderson, New York State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, is the central figure in two important investigations. One is being made by the District Attorney in New York City, into charges that Anderson forced fund collectors to "split" their commissions with him. The other is an Albany investigation into charges that the Anti-Saloon League is a political body and should, therefore, be compelled to make public accounting of its receipts and expenditures about which there has been so much secrecy. The Rockefeller who formerly practically supported the League, have withdrawn financial support from it and have demanded that Anderson make complete accounting. Frank E. Cartwright of Corning,

LUEDER OPPOSES JUDGE DEVER

Results of Chicago's Primary Election—Thompson Out of It—City Normally Democratic.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Chicago, Feb. 28.—The next mayor of Chicago will be either Arthur C. Lueder, Republican, or Judge William E. Dever, Democrat.

Complete returns compiled today in yesterday's primary election showed that Lueder won by a commanding vote in the four-cornered G. O. P. race. Judge Dever had no opposition.

William Hale Thompson, incumbent, did not enter the race.

Friends of both Lueder and Dever today predicted victory for their candidate in the April majority election. Chicago is normally Democratic, although its present mayor is Republican.

The majority race was an interesting affair. Lueder polled nearly 43 per cent of the Republican vote. He topped Edward R. Litzinger, his nearest rival, by 54,144. Arthur M. Millard, president of the Masonic Bureau of Service and Employment, finished third and Judge Bernard P. Barasa, the "beer and wine" candidate, fourth. The vote was: Lueder, 128,704; Litzinger, 74,569; Millard, 51,054; and Barasa, 46,690. The total Republican vote was 301,008.

The Democrats gave Judge Dever a complimentary vote of 165,351.

The selection of the Socialist party was William A. Cunneau.

The voters also decided on nominees for city treasurer as follows: John V. Healy, Republican, John A. Cervinka, Democrat, and Robert H. Howe, Socialist. For city clerk: William H. Cruden, Republican; Alf Gorman, Democrat, and Pierce L. Anderson, Socialist.

Aldermen were elected in 30 wards. In twenty other wards the decision will be settled in the April elections. Alderman John J. Coughlin of the famous First Ward repeated his performance for thirty years by winning easily.

The new mayoralty rivals have been active in Chicago civic affairs. Lueder until recently was postmaster of Chicago. He never has run for office before. He will be 47 years old tomorrow. Dever has been judge of the superior court since 1910. He is 60 years old.

Aaron Shapiro

Aaron Shapiro, 39 years old, began life in a San Francisco orphanage. He worked his way through school and college and became a lawyer. He served as a private in the World War. In the last few years, under his leadership, five great tobacco associations have been marketing two-thirds of the American tobacco crop, and he directs ten state cooperative associations in marketing cotton. He has organized a number of big milk and dairy products pools, and, at the instance of the Canadian government officials, some of his efforts are now being carried into Canada. He is general counsel of the National Council of the Farmers' Cooperative Marketing Association and of the Tobacco Growers' Exchange.

ASSEMBLY TO LET SMITH ECONOMIZE

Will Pass Most of His Measures—Movie Censor Repeal Uncertain—Greene to Remain in Consolidated Department.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Albany, Feb. 28.—Realizing that he has a Republican Assembly to deal with, and probably anticipating that it will not take kindly to all the suggestions for reorganization of the state government which he made in a special message to the lawmakers, Governor Smith has seen to it that separate measures are to be introduced to carry out the various recommendations.

In having this done—and there will be between 25 and 30 of these bills—the governor feels, it is said, that the killing in the assembly of one specific recommendation will not mean the killing of all of them. If all the recommendations made by the governor were put in one huge bill, and that measure should meet with defeat in the lower house, it would mean the defeat of the entire reorganization plan.

It is generally believed at the capitol that the Republicans in the lower house, under direction of Speaker Machold, will permit a majority of the governor's reorganization measures to go through with easy sailing. But just what the Republicans are going to do regarding the governor's recommendation that the Motion Picture Censorship Commission be abolished, remains to be seen. There are many Republican members of the lower house, however, who declare the governor's measure to wipe out this commission will be buried in committee in the lower house.

So far as the abolition of scores of what both Republicans and Democrats regard as useless bureaus and agencies, it is expected that the recommendations of the chief executive will be approved in both houses. Some of the Republicans are clear that former Governor Miller had in mind a reorganization of the state's government along the same line as suggested by Governor Smith, with the exception that he would not have asked for the abolition of the movie censorship board.

It is expected the Republicans will agree to the governor's plan to have all the engineering work of the state centered in a new department to be known as the public works department. The highway department also would come under the proposed new public works department, but it would still be headed by a highway commissioner, so this means Col. Frederick Stuart Greene will continue to be the state highway chief.

CURRENT OFFERINGS

AT THE THEATRES

Mae Murray in "Broadway Rose" appears for the last time tonight at Keeney's. It contains lavish splendor with a romance. Lupino Lane romps through a two part comedy. "The Pirate." Starting Thursday, three days of thrills are promised Keeney patrons in John Barrymore's version of William Gillette's stage play, "Sherlock Holmes." Buster Keaton in a comedy of nonsense, "The Blacksmith," is shown in conjunction with "Sherlock Holmes."

The all new show at the Opera House opens tonight with William Desmond in an exciting story of the great outdoors, "Fighting Mad," together with Owen Moore in "Love is an Awful Thing," a comedy of five reels. Both attractions are shown at every performance.

Zane Grey's racing romance "Wildfire" is programmed at the Auditorium tonight under the title of "When Romance Rides," shown in conjunction with Roy Stewart in "The Radio King." Thursday an Oriental romance, "The Sheikh's Wife."

Said to be even bigger than "Footlights," her notable screen success, is Elsie Ferguson's latest Paramount picture, "Outcast," which will be the attraction at the Orpheum today and tomorrow. It is difficult to believe that Miss Ferguson could ever excel her work in "Footlights," but it is said she has done so in "Outcast." The picture, adapted from a popular stage play of the same name, is one of the most powerful of dramas. Included in the action is a thrilling jump from a ship by Miss Ferguson and her rescue by a seaplane. Also vaudeville. Entire change of acts tomorrow.

It is Possible.

"How did the tortoise happen to beat the hare?"

"Dunno."

"An idea occurs to me."

"Well?"

"Maybe the hare got held up for speeding."

Couldn't Cut Her.

Mrs. Bumps—I've been thinking a long time of dropping her from my list of acquaintances.

Mrs. Gumps—Then why don't you do it?

Mrs. Bumps—She knows more gossip than anybody in town.

Mother's Break.

"Pa says one of his cylinders is missing."

"Well, you children get to work and hunt for it or we'll never get off."

Miss Jeanette Brensale

Miss Jeanette Brensale, of Highland Park, New Jersey, has mysteriously disappeared from the Middlesex General Hospital, New Brunswick, New Jersey, where she was a student nurse. There is absolutely no trace of her, and no reason can be ascribed for her disappearance. Several hundred boy scouts and girls have searched the woods in vain for her.

NAILED

"So you are married?"

The lady said she was.

And then he handed her that old line of talk about being sorry he hadn't met her in time.

"But you are just in time," she answered. "Next week I get my final decree of divorce."

Then it was his move.

Getting It Right.

Tony and Ivan are two citizens who are trying to master the niceties of our language. When one of them makes a break the other tries to set him right.

"It's a fine day under head," remarked Tony.

"You mean," corrected Ivan, "it's a fine day overneath."

Wifely Advice.

"That you, dearie? I'm detained at the office on very important business. Don't sit up for me."

"I won't, dearie. You'll come home as early as you can, won't you? And John, dear."

"Yes, what is it?"

"Please don't draw too many inside straightens."

Nothing Gratis.

"These city folks make a heap of fun of us agriculturists," said Si Simlin.

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel.

"One of these days we'll have to get together an' charge 'em extra for bein' entertainers as well as producers."—Washington Star.

A PHILOSOPHER

Rabbit—I expect a rabbit trap is like the stock market—won't hurt you if you keep out of it.

Wise.

A wise old man is Mr. Bright. His method down the years Has been to keep his mouth shut tight And open wide his ears.

Caution.

"Would you marry a man for riches?"

"Not without careful inquiry," replied Miss Careyenne. "Some men get rich by such close economy that nobody can break them of the habit."

The Near Actor.

"You say you were nearly an actor?"

"Oh, yes, so I was, in the past; And this is the way that it happened. I once had my leg in a cast."

Overpaid.

"Tennyson J. Daff receives a good deal more money for his poetry than he deserves," stated old Festus Pester.

"How much does he get?" we asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea."

Prophecy.

"Well, my little girl, and what are you going to be when you grow up?"

Screen Child—Oh, I'm going to figure in several divorce scandals, at least.

Behind the Times.

Clancy—What would you do if I kissed you?

Nancy—How do I know? You know very well that I haven't been to the movies lately.

SOME SMILES

MODERN ART

Artist—I owe my great success to a cow, to be frank with you.

His Friend—Ah, so the picture that made you famous was one portraying a cow?

Artist—Not exactly. I was painting a landscape in the country and a cow licked most of the paint from the canvas. I called the result "An Oyster Calling to His Mate," and here I am.

Miscalculations.

"Did you hear about Old Man Coyne going to the wall?"

"You don't say? And it was his daughter who married Duke Nottingham, about two weeks ago?"

"Yes, think of how surprised that duke will be when he hears of himself marrying for love."

Discipline.

"Why did the sudden hush fall over the crowd when that stranger came into the room? Is he a constable or something?"

"No," answered Cactus Joe. "Most of us fellows has played in wild west films, one time or another. That feller is a motion picture director."

The Unlucky Thirteen.

She—You think it's unlucky to be 13 at a table?

He—I do! Why, once when there were 13 of us round the table I had a most delightful girl sitting next to me—

She—And she died!

He—No—I married her.

Never Satisfied.

"He used to say if he ever made ten thousand dollars a year he'd be perfectly contented."

"And now that he is making that much, is he?"

"Not at all. He's constantly grumbling about the income tax he has to pay."

A Fish Story.

Hale—You have more brains than a fish.

Hardy—Thanks for the compliment.

Hale—Whaddye mean, compliment! Do you think that fish are intelligent?

Hardy—Well, you often see them in schools, don't you?

A LITERARY WORM

Mrs. Bookworm—No, Mr. Bug, I don't care for those cheap trashy novels at all. I prefer a more classic diet.

She'll Never Desert That.

She may not cling to him in sickness and in health. But she will stick, you bet, as long as he has wealth.

Not the Right Kind of Model.

Wife—I don't see why you never use me for a model. My first husband always did.

Artist—Yes, my dear, but your first husband was an illustrator of comic papers.

A Handy Man.

Clancy—Did you hear that Skeets, the poet, is on the stage?

Nancy—Is he trying to raise the morale?

Clancy—No; when I saw him he was raising the curtain.

A Popular Malady.

"He looks like an able-bodied man."

"Yes, but he has an incurable ailment, it seems."

"What is the trouble?"

"Anything in the nature of work disagrees with him."

Climbers.

"The Notmuch family are great aspirants for social honors, are they not?"

"I should say so. Why, they're such climbers that they have even named their youngest daughter Ivy."

Discouraged Weather Prophet.

"Did ye hear that our local forecaster is tryin' to get transferred?"

"No, I didn't, Si. What's the trouble?"

"He says the climate doesn't agree with him."

That's Reasonable.

Sonnyboy—Daddy, won't you give me a bicycle?

Papa—Can't afford it, son.

Sonnyboy—A man shouldn't marry unless he can afford it.

So Many of 'Em Are.

"So you saw the film version of your story. What do you think of it?"

"It's no version; it's a perversion."

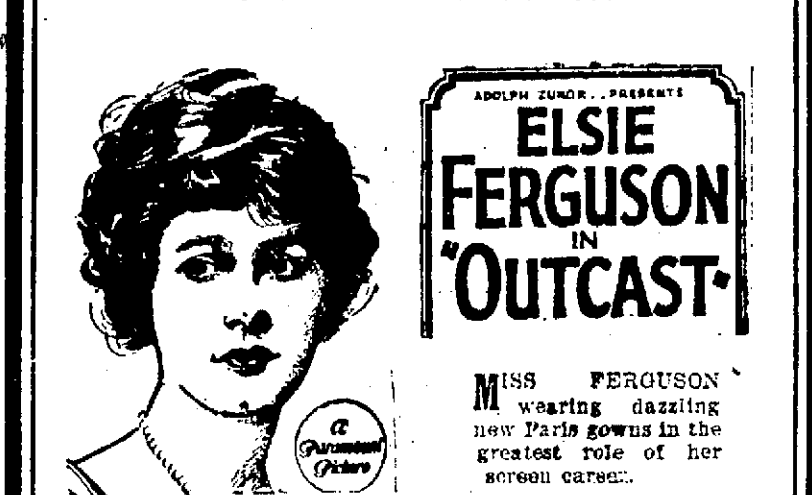

Character From Laughter.

An Italian professor says laughter is a surer indication of character than handwriting. The best kind of laugh is the hearty "Ha, ha, ha," showing a frank disposition. "He, he, he" is the sign of a moody and gloomy man.

STORY FALSE, SAYS CHANCELLOR FLINT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 28.—Chancellor Charles Wesley Flint of Syracuse University today gave the International News Service the following statement on the alleged anti-Semitic movement sponsored by the Senior Council:

"The stories published yesterday afternoon that the Senior Council had taken action looking toward the elimination of Jewish students at Syracuse University, were reported to me to be false. At the time the story was first called to my attention, I requested all newspapers in Syracuse to delay publication of this story until I could make a proper investigation of it and establish the facts. I realized, and I hoped everyone would realize that the publication of such a story would misrepresent the university and thereby be seriously damaging to the good name of the university and to the city of Syracuse."

TIRE MAKERS PLAN TO GROW RUBBER

"Millions for Defense But Not One Cent for Tribute" Is Sentiment as British Monopoly Puts on Screws.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 28.—Leading tire and automobile manufacturers of the United States are ready to put millions of dollars back of plantations in Central and South America and the Philippines, to establish an American controlled rubber industry.

This was disclosed today by representatives of big manufacturers who have been conferring in Washington to evolve a plan to shift rubber production from British to American control.

Henry Ford, vitally interested in the conference as the world's biggest tire consumer, could be counted on for $50,000,000, according to his friends, while Harry S. Firestone, multi-millionaire tire producer, is willing to invest a huge sum in rubber cultivation.

Spokesmen for the auto and tire producers said the rubber companies are expected to take the lead in financing the plantations. Automobile manufacturers who see curtailed sales and higher quotations on cars under the present British monopoly, will play a big hand in backing the rubber people.

Society Notes

Celebrated Eightieth Birthday.

On Tuesday Mrs. Albert Carr celebrated her eightieth birthday at her home on Clinton avenue. Though Mrs. Carr has been an invalid for several months, she was able to enjoy the calls of friends, the many cards and letters of congratulation and the profuse gifts of flowers. One basket of flowers contained eighty carnations. Mrs. Carr's many friends hope that she will so recover her health as to enjoy many more birthdays.

Surprise Party.

Monday evening, February 26, a number of friends very pleasantly surprised Jack Robins, popular local ball player, at his home, 61 Furnace street. The evening was most delightfully spent. Next came a paper on "Ecclesiastes, the Book of Gentle Cynicism," given by Mrs. Brigham. Miss Fuller had the last paper of the group on "Job, the Dramatic Book of the Bible." All of these papers were especially full of interest and information and were entertainingly presented. The program closed with a reading, "The Marshes of Glynn," by Sidney Lanier, given by Mrs. Delaplane. Next week the Lowell Club will meet with Mrs. Delaplane.

Miss Odell will be recalled this afternoon. It looked as if she would be questioned for some time. Mr. Pecora expects other witnesses whom he regards as important, but would not say Tuesday who they are.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 28.—The administration's ship subsidy bill was given its final death blow this afternoon when the senate voted to lay it aside and take up other legislation.

Both friends and foes of the subsidy agreed that it would be impossible for the shipping bill to be considered again by the senate during the present session.

The senate voted to take up the Ladd "Alled milk" bill—a measure which commands the support of the farm bloc. Republican members of this bloc voted with the Democrats to send the ship subsidy bill to its legislative grave.

JEALOUS WOMAN
KILLED SCHNEIDER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 28.—Jealousy of a woman over attentions paid by Frederick Schneider to an employee in his office, is believed by police to be an important factor in the chain of events which led to the mysterious murder of the wealthy contractor, whose body was found seated in his car on a lonely road in the Bronx Monday evening.

This fact was learned today when detectives assigned to the investigation revealed that they had discovered that Mrs. Anna Buzzi, held under $25,000 bail as a material witness in the case, became furious when she learned that he had taken one of his girl employees riding.

They also disclosed in a small memorandum book found on his body, Schneider had written:

"She threatened to throw hot soup in my face. I've never heard a female use such vile language."

There was nothing in the book to show whom the note concerned.

While operatives are pursuing this clue and are also investigating the history of the 38 calibre Colt revolver which has been traced from the factory to the state armory at Toledo, Ohio, Mrs. Buzzi paces the floor of her cell, alternately raging and weeping.

When she learned of the statement made by Harry Shidrowitz with Nicholas Fuchner, a farmer, was the last person to see the death car on the evening of the murder, Mrs. Buzzi became frantic.

"I saw Schneider's car moving out toward Clason Point road about 4:30 o'clock," Shidrowitz had said. "Anna Buzzi was driving. We did not speak."

"He's a liar—he's a liar," the woman shrieked.

Detectives are seeking the owner of a woman's glove found in the back seat of Schneider's car, although the importance of this clue is mitigated by the fact that it may have been put there months before the murder.

Police have abandoned all theories except that of wilful murder.

NYACK COMMITTEE GETS RECORD CHURCH ATTENDANCE

The second move of the Nyack non-churchgoers' committee to revive interest in the church as a social and economic force which cannot be neglected was made Sunday when they succeeded in getting larger congregations out for morning services of every denomination than have ever been recorded in the village. In addition to some 200 persons who were total strangers in the various churches an almost equal number of communicants who have not been present on Sunday morning in the last two years were on hand.

Considerable comment was excited by the proportion of men in the congregations, offering a sharp contrast to the usual percentage. Apparently the appeal of the committee, which includes Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, grand master of the Masons in the state, the county surrogate, the presidents of two local banks, the editors of the two local papers, the heads of the labor unions, the fire chief and many prominent business men, was particularly strong with the younger generation. Many of the pews were filled with boys around twenty years of age.

Historic Herb House.

It is not widely known, except to the trade, that Madison, Ind., has the largest and perhaps the oldest herb house in the United States, which has existed since 1854. It collects from various parts of the country and distributes to many parts of the world approximately 100 varieties of leaves and roots known in the business as crude drugs.

Effects of Warm Rain.

When a warm rain occurs over a snow-covered region it is not the rain so much as the warm wind that melts the snow. An inch of rain at 50 degrees Fahrenheit could melt only three inches of light snow or one inch of old snow.

INCOME TAX
INFORMATION

A free question and answer bureau is being conducted by The Freeman for readers who desire information on federal or state income taxes. It is personally edited by Charles A. Secor, of Secor, Ronder & Co., tax counselors and public accountants of Kingston, New York, and Washington, and all rights are reserved. All questions will be answered confidentially by letter to our readers and a two cent stamp should be enclosed for reply postage.

Item 10. Builders of barges, canal boats and other vessels who sell such marine equipment on long time payments may—under certain conditions—report such sales on the installment plan. For example: A seller barges to B in a certain year and receives a substantial sum as down money in part payment, the balance to be paid in six annual installments. Such being the case, A can elect to report as a sale only the actual payment of cash each year and reporting the cost only that proportion of the total cost as the cash payment represents of the selling price. Many builders of harbor tonnage did themselves an injustice in the tax years of 1917 to 1922 by not electing to report in this manner. The time for filing amended returns for 1917 on such a basis expires on April 1, 1923.

Questions and Answers.
L. C.—Question. In 1919 I purchased a number of shares of a new venture in oil wells. The company went along for a short time but later failed and today there is no oil company. May I deduct this from my income tax report this year? I should I use the federal tax form 1040A and the state form 200 or 201 to show this deduction? My income is less than $5,000.

Answer. The loss on this oil stock can be deducted from your other income provided you can prove that the stock is absolutely worthless. Submit whatever evidence you have in support of your statement. You should use federal form 1040A and state form 201.

Affidavit Should Go With This.

Bird lovers are finding the good Samaritan acts of a certain pair of eagles near Beech park almost too human for the monarchs of the air, generally known to be flesh-eating, with a predilection for rabbits in particular, says a dispatch from London, Canada.

This particular pair of eagles, finding some bunnies scrambling aimlessly about in a field, took them up gently by the ears and carried them to a neighboring farm, depositing them carefully near the barn.

The next remarkable act of one of the eagles was to break a window in the barn. Through the hole the birds carried the rabbits, depositing them gently in the haymow, where the bunnies have made themselves quite contented.

Potato Appropriately Honored.

The lowly potato has at last been given just recognition. Poets may sing the praises of pomegranates and tropical fruits, but the potato now has a monument erected in its honor. The granite tablet, erected by farmers on a piece of land in the Hartz mountains, bears the inscription, "Here was made the first experiment in growing potatoes in 1747." The experiment was tried just 175 years ago. At that time few people consented to eat the food which this year, especially, will do more than anything else to stave off hunger in Germany. The cultivation of potatoes had started in Bohemia more than a century before the experiment was tried in Prussia.

Satanic Geography.

No person, either historical or legendary, has more places named after him than the devil. The famous explorer, Captain Amundsen, added to the list during his expedition. He gave us "Devil's Glacier" and "Devil's Dancing Room."
